INTRODUCTION

This report is based on a positive vision of world peace, and the belief that each individual has the potential within to make a significant contribution to world peace. The basis of inner peace is self-esteem and self-knowledge, and when enough individuals are self-aware, they will act in accordance with natural laws to promote harmony around them, and the result will be world peace.

Good will win out over evil, and the goodness within yourself will manifest through your individual personality. This report is designed to draw your attention to your potential, your unique opportunities for expressing it, and your ability to bring about harmony around you. Some of your ability is based on gifts which you already have, which are easy for you to draw upon. You also have the willpower to dissolve any blockages which may be standing in the way of your clear vision of the possibilities of harmony and peace. Start with a positive attitude, and you will be favorably surprised at what you can achieve and what you can overcome. Love yourself, and you are already creating world peace.

Each person's astrological chart maps out a divinely created plan for that individual. It tells what you were put on this earth to do. You can learn what your own, unique mission is and then you can rejoice in carrying it out. The utmost good which you can imagine can become your reality. Then you can spread the good news to others and awaken them to their own, inner Light. All persons are created from the divine, and we are moving back to the divine. Life is a celebration of both our common awareness of the Light and our God-given birthright to an individual identity which is uniquely ours and which, when fully realized, will shine as its own Light and harmonize with all the other Lights on the planet. It will be like the vivid and beautiful colours of the spectrum all merging into White Light, and then radiating from the souls of all individuals at once.

Astrology is the study of the Astral Plane. The Astral Plane is the link between the everyday world of the manifested, Physical Plane and our higher planes of awareness, from which we can draw insight into how to improve our affairs in the physical realm. If we perceive a problem in the everyday world, such as a lack of peace, we cannot always solve it on that level, because the everyday world is made up of opposing polarities. We need to rise above the physical plane to see that these opposites are reconcilable. For example, if one person is male and another is female, they appear on the surface to be of opposite polarities but on the higher level, they are both human; they can communicate with each other; and they can enjoy working together for their common benefit.

Each individual has opposing polarities too, such as a right side and a left side, but through the higher awareness of our brains we get our two sides working together. Our brain has two hemispheres: The left hemisphere is responsible for logical thought and governs the right side of our body. The right hemisphere is responsible for creative, lateral thinking and rules the left side of our body. When we operate "from centre" - that is, when our higher brain gets our logical thought and our creative thought to work together harmoniously - then we come up with our best, most creatively intelligent output. When we use our full potential, when we know whom we are and believe in ourselves, then we create maximum harmony with those around us and, on the transpersonal level, we come up with our best solutions for world peace.

On the astral level each individual has command of both polarities. For example, we each have a Sun sign and a Moon sign. We also each have a Venus and a Mars sign, regardless of whether we are male or female on the physical plane. So, if we tune into whom we are astrologically, we begin to reach a level of awareness where we have transcended the polarities of the physical plane. We can see how we are each an embodiment of the harmonious balancing of polarities. We are born with this unity already in place. We just need to know how to use our Sun sign and our Moon sign, and our other planets, to our best advantage in our daily lives, so that by being our true selves, we will be bringing about peace.

Each person's method of using his or her Sun and Moon signs, and other planets, will be different, because we were each born at a different time and place on the Earth, where we're influenced by different combinations of influences by the other planets. On this astral plane, some of us will be contributing a more masculine interpretation of solar energy (if our Sun is in a fire or air sign) and the rest of us will be showing the world a more feminine way of looking at the Sun (if our Sun is in an earth or water sign). Also, depending on our Moon sign, we will each have our own way of interpreting the Moon's type of energy and, in our mission on Earth, we will be contributing this much-needed awareness to our own planet's evolution. We are all important, and we are all here to be ourselves, at our highest possible level of understanding. We are here to help our planet achieve its divine purpose, and to do so is perfectly natural to us.

Just as there are particular points of strength and prominence in your astrological chart, there are strategic points on the Earth's surface for the achievement of world peace. For example, this Report is being written in the city of Toronto which, along with London and Los Angeles, are important world energy centres (or chakras) for the development of international understanding. London is the world centre for intelligence and Los Angeles is the world centre for creativity. Toronto is the centre for unity, or creative intelligence, or the resolution of polarities. The name "Toronto" means "meeting place" in native Indian. Therefore, it is part of the mission of those who are familiar with the earth energy of Toronto to spread to the rest of the world the message that polarities can be resolved and peace can be created.

I once obtained a computer printout as to what was going on in the news on the day of my birth. It said that, on that date in 1950, Ralph Bunche received the Nobel Peace Prize. I later learned that he was one of the founders of the United Nations and that he had been successful in negotiating a truce between the Jews and the Palestinians in Israel in 1949. He did this by working very hard to listen to the points of view of both sides and looking for a common ground. He said "Talking is better than shooting". He remained calm himself and successfully brought about an armistice. Treaties were signed between Israel and each of Egypt, Jordan, Lebanon, and Syria. So, the very positive message which can be brought into the present day is: Peace is possible. Differences can be overcome and understanding can be reached through conscious effort and communication. Look for what you have in common with your neighbour and build on it.

My message as an astrologer to you is: Whatever day you were born on is divinely significant. Your birth data can be the key to your realizing how important your presence in the world is. Each person is uniquely important. Within each other person we can see our own, divine essence mirrored, because what we have in common is our potential to bring out the very best in ourselves and each other.

On the day that I decided to write the World Peace Report and I began writing it, October 17, 2002, there were many trine aspects, which confers harmony. I hope that your World Peace Report helps you to fully develop your potential for contributing to world peace and harmony.

Chapter 1: Rising Sign

Ascendant in Aquarius:

Your outward personality, through which your Inner Light and all of the various planetary influences in your chart are expressed, is independent, tolerant and inventive. Others would be drawn to you because they would be fascinated with your unusual, progressive ideas and your keen intuition. You would tend to show them by your example how they can be more intellectually advanced and inspired, and then they would grow to be more open-minded and able to deal with change in a more positive way. They would then be more accepting of others who are different from themselves, because they would accept their own universal awareness within.

Chapter 2: The Sun

Sun in Gemini:

You are a born communicator, and as such you can do much to get people to understand one another. You would be good at learning other languages and fitting into other cultures, because of your adaptability and quick mind. You would have ability as a reporter for the media or as a teacher. It is important that you get the education of which you are capable, so that you will have a good opinion of yourself, because you will then be able to communicate positive expectations about other persons too. For example, if you refer to others as "friends" rather than as "enemies", you will be turning them into friends, because the choice of words has a very powerful effect in creating what the words represent.

Sun in the 4th house:

The place where you can really shine is in the home, and in creating positive, nurturing conditions for others. If others are cared for and loved, they will go out into the world being creators of peace. You would be good at looking after children. You could work at providing nourishing meals. The influence of the motherly role should never be underestimated because, as the say goes, "the hand that rocks the cradle rules the world".

Sun Sextile Mars:

You have an unusual ability to bring the Light into actual, physical manifestation, because your willpower combines with your outer expression in a very favorable way. You are very creative in the way you can visualize a goal and then achieve it. If your goal were to lead people towards the actual accomplishment of world peace, you would be very effective indeed. Work on remaining spiritually attuned, so that you will not fall back into taking your power for granted, as its proper purpose is to uplift others.

Chapter 3: The Moon

Moon in Taurus:

You are motivated to create and maintain peace, because you need it for your own feeling of security. As your awareness evolves, you come to see more and more that real security comes from within, and you cultivate positive thoughts and clear ideas as to what peace would be like and how to build for it. Intuitively, you know that peace can be lasting if it is worked at every day. Therefore, you remain calm and patiently build for the future, knowing that each time you beautify your house or garden, paint a picture of a serene landscape, or figure out something stable and honest to invest your money in, you are adding something concrete and meaningful to the peaceful vibration of the planet, as well as to your own, secure future.

Moon in the 2nd house:

Emotional security is very important to you, and you will benefit by realizing that real security comes from within. If you are in tune with your Inner Light, you will have a stable centre, no matter what is going on around you. Practise meditations which take you beyond the everyday, material world, and then you will not feel an anxiety to own possessions in order to feel secure, and you will be immune to the economic changes around you. Paradoxically, once you achieve this inner state of detachment from material things, money and other possessions will come very easily to you. However, in your higher state of awareness, you will now know how to use them to build a secure, stable world with lasting peace.

Moon Conjunction Venus:

The Moon makes you nurturing and Venus makes you a lover of peace. If the world had enough of these vibrations, there would indeed be universal caring and harmony. You set a wonderful example, and you can get your message across to others in gentle, subtle ways such as by creating peaceful paintings which could be hung in people's homes. You would have loving relationships and you would be very good with children.

Moon Square Saturn:

Although you may have faced harsh circumstances concerning your mother when you were young, your life experiences have taught you to be very rational and self-reliant. While others may fall to pieces in a crisis, you are able to remain emotionally detached and carry on with the essential things which need to be done. You would be able to show others how to have realistic expectations and how not to be greedy for too much and, in that way, to maintain a peaceful society.

Moon Trine Pluto:

You have an innate understanding of how good nurturing of children is ultimately what creates a peaceful world. You hold the contribution of women in high esteem, and you could influence many to appreciate them more. You would be in touch with the fact that the right-brain and lateral thinking can solve differences more harmoniously than an adversarial approach. You could work through a religious or charitable group to get food and other humanitarian aid to those most in need.

Chapter 4: Mercury

Mercury in Cancer:

Your thoughts are about protecting your family, your children and your heritage. Cultivate positive thinking, rather than fear or insecurity, so that you will be effective in protecting those whom you love rather than just having negative feelings about those outside of your own, close-knit, little group. Communicate with your children and know that the loving thoughts which you convey to them will go a long way towards teaching them how to create a peaceful, secure society.

Mercury in the 5th house:

You have good ability with words and a dramatic flair. You could use these gifts to present the positive possibilities for peace in a dramatic, very acceptable way. You also have a talent for teaching children. You might be able to approach the leaders of your country with ideas for peace, especially by explaining to them what it would mean for children.

Mercury Trine Neptune:

You have a special gift for harmonizing your logical thinking with your unconscious mind. You can visualize world peace and then you can describe your vision to others. You could do this through psychic readings, channelling, poetry or prose. You would also excel at photography and could use it to put the idea of peace in people's minds.

Mercury Sextile Pluto:

You have a talent for expressing yourself in a positive, intense way which will have a profound effect on others. You understand the importance of the choice of words used by the mass media in affecting world peace and, if you were a news reporter, you would use the right words. You are good at investigating the real causes of the events which occur and, if you discovered any underlying blockages to world peace, you could communicate them in a positive way to others effectively.

Chapter 5: Venus

Venus in Taurus:

Venus rules peace and Taurus is ruled by Venus, so you have an unusual talent for focusing on peace and being able to build it. Your honesty, steadiness, patience, and sociability are the essence of peace, and you just need to be your real self to show others the proper outlook to create peace. You can do this by getting to know your inner self, so that you will be fully aware that real security comes from within, rather than from any need to acquire money or possessions in order to have real security. Then you will be able to radiate your inner peace to others.

Venus in the 2nd house:

Venus is the planet which rules peace and the Second House is ruled by Venus, so you are able to relate to others in a doubly peaceful way. That is, you treat others very kindly and you seek to build long-lasting, agreeable relationships with them. You are aware that people need to be financially secure in order to maintain a vision of peace, and you seek to counsel them about sound investing. You may have artistic talent and be able to paint beautiful, peaceful, nature scenes which would bring a feeling of tranquility to others.

Venus Square Jupiter:

You are faced with the question of how material wealth can be used for peaceful, spiritual purposes. You can easily acquire wealth if you put your mind to it but, in order for it to benefit you and not make you self-indulgent and attached to it, you need to use your willpower to make sure that it will be used only for the purposes of peace and spiritual inspiration in the world. Give freely to causes which you know will bring food and shelter to those who most need it. Start a business in a foreign country to employ the people there and give them hope. Set a positive example as to how the world can transcend greed and get back on the right path.

Venus Square Saturn:

You would be good at achieving an agreement for peace because of your perseverance, willpower and diplomatic approach. If a first attempt did not succeed, you would keep trying until the parties involved were both satisfied that everything important has been included. You would be able to handle it if topics were raised where there was not yet agreement, because of your strength and patience to work through any differences.

Venus Trine Pluto:

You have a talent for teaching others about the relationship between world peace and the ultimate, divine love as inspired by the Creator. You can guide others in seeing that material attachments are not the answer, because they result in greed and disagreements, whereas the regeneration of love among all peoples is what will create peace on the mass level. You can set a positive example of harmony in your own relationships, and this will have a far-reaching effect.

Chapter 6: Mars

Mars in Leo:

What a wonderful astrological position for bringing out the inner Light and manifesting it in the world! Leo is ruled by the Sun, which is the creative life of the solar system, and Mars is the planet which inspires concrete results. The best way for you to achieve this great potential is to ensure that you are always spiritually guided. Do not get attached to your ego, when you receive so much attention from those who sense your high energy, but instead make sure that your ego is a channel for the much greater good. At the same time, know that you are worthy of much love, and you will then spread this love to many others with an open heart.

Mars in the 6th house:

You set a good example for others of how to work diligently and take pride in a job well done. You would be an effective health care worker, taking the initiative to make sure that the highest standards of cleanliness and disease prevention are employed. Your accounting ability would ensure that all financial dealings are honest and therefore, peaceful. You would be a reliable, diligent, behind-the-scenes worker in any peace effort.

Mars Conjunct Uranus:

You need a constructive, peaceful outlet for your ability to break free from the past and create change. You would work best in a situation where you can be your own boss and not be held back by an authority figure. You could help others in their efforts to achieve equality, in any situation where the blockage to progress is an oppressive dictator or antiquated power structure. However, remain spiritually centred and make sure that the persons against whom you are rebelling really are dictatorial and that you are not just furthering your own ego by discriminating against them.

Chapter 7: Jupiter and Saturn

Jupiter in Aquarius:

Your broad-mindedness, tolerance and friendliness would set a good example to others of the attitude needed to create peace, and you could win people over by making them feel accepted. Your ability to work from this higher plane of awareness comes from your ready access to your intuition and universal, spiritual consciousness which transcend the plane where differences between people exist. Develop this natural ability by engaging in a mental technique of awareness expansion, such as Transcendental Meditation. This will prepare you to fulfil your very high potential of reaching many with the knowledge of how they, too, can benefit from expanding their awareness.

Jupiter in the 12th house:

You are very generous and compassionate and willing to reach out to those most in need. Because of your very high level of spiritual awareness, you do not ask for anything in return, and you have faith that your own needs will be provided for through your good karma. You can gain many subtler insights by meditating in a quiet retreat. You are not attached to material things, and you can set a good example to others that they can be happy without competing over how much they can own.

Jupiter Square Neptune:

You believe that higher faith and goodwill can make the world a more compassionate place, and you are willing to work hard to put your high ideals into practice. You would be willing to go to a place where there are poor people in need, to help provide for them and to inspire their faith and hope. You would be an effective faith healer, who could bring in the highest of subtle energies and make use of them on the physical plane.

Saturn in Capricorn:

You have an unusual talent for organization and practical self-discipline, and you remain calm and above any emotional changes. These qualities would make you very effective in any peacekeeping project. You are fair and unbiased in your treatment of everyone, because you have a capacity for following the agreed-upon rules, rather than be swayed by any unpredictable factors. Make sure that you deal with any feelings you may have about being treated too strictly in your childhood, so that you will not be too strict with others, and so that you will be a happier person.

Saturn in the 12th house:

You have a talent for providing the practical necessities of life to the poor. You are serious about getting others to behave compassionately towards the disadvantaged, and you have the potential to set a fine example for them. You realize that the reputation of a city or country is very closely linked to how the persons most in need are treated.

Chapter 8: Uranus, Neptune and Pluto

Uranus in Leo:

You would make a good leader because you would have both the self-confidence to lead and the awareness that everyone is equally important. You would, therefore, attract followers for democratic ideas. You would be an enthusiastic participant in the cause of having an enlightened, peaceful and happier world.

Uranus in the 7th house:

You would be interested in working on the cause of furthering peace, perhaps with a group of people concerned about legal reforms. Your approach is very intellectual and you would get along with all kinds of people. You would have a good understanding of human rights. Make sure that the theories about human rights which you learn in an intellectual setting would work in the everyday world before assuming that they would be practical, because most people do not take an intellectual approach like yours, even though they still have their own way of getting along with each other.

Neptune in Scorpio:

You were born into a generation of people who were concerned about contacting their deeper emotions and accepting even the most challenging aspects of themselves. This, in its own way, was a process of developing greater tolerance and love for people of all types. There was increased awareness that compassion, rather than attempted suppression, was the way to reach even the worst offenders, whose intense energies could be turned around from doing great bad to doing great good.

Neptune in the 8th house:

You would be intensely compassionate and able to reach people whom others have given up on as enemies. Your psychic and spiritual awareness would extend far beyond everyday circumstances to the higher realms, and you would be very concerned with the overall question of how the world can be made more compassionate. You might be able to do psychic healing of people's auras to regenerate their connection with the higher power.

Neptune Sextile Pluto:

You were born into an age when there was a subtle awareness that world peace could be created if individuals chose in large enough numbers to treat one another with compassion and kindness. There were many spiritual visions of peace, which appeared in music, art and mass communication. The knowledge of how to bring about peace was there, but it needed to be brought down into the physical plane of actual action, for there to be enough love and spiritual regeneration in everyday life. The willpower was needed to overcome addictions and material attachments, in order to make the wisest use of the readily available, profound, channelled, higher insights.

Pluto in Virgo:

You were born at a time when holistic health care became popular, and individuals took control of their own physical, emotional and spiritual health. Transformational health techniques from around the world were explored and practised. This trend set the stage for individuals realizing that, if they could heal themselves, they could also heal the planet. There were also great advances in world health care, such as individuals helping others in different countries to enjoy better health and to have more say in the health matters which affected them.

Pluto in the 7th house:

You have an unusual potential to have a significant influence on world peace. That is because you would have deep insight into others and you would know what would get them to agree with the persons with whom they are coming together. You would be courageous in facing the real issues and any agreement you help people reach would be meaningful. You would put pressure on them to work through their differences, but you would do it in a kind, facilitating way.

CONCLUSION

This report on World Peace is best utilized by those who are ready to go ahead and make a positive contribution to the world. If you find that you need to feel more secure as an individual first, before taking on the task of helping to change the world, then you may find that the Personal Security Report is more suited to your needs. The Personal Security Report addresses the issue of preventing negative outcomes. The World Peace Report takes the next step and focuses on how to manifest positive outcomes. The Personal Security Report is about undoing past karma, and the World Peace Report is about creating good karma for the future.

The outlook for world peace in the 21st century is very positive. If Ralph Bunche were able to bring about a truce in 1949, think of what many individuals working together could achieve now! He was working under pressure, but there are many persons now who are able to reflect on peaceful solutions without being under pressure. There are new technologies such as computers which can be used to bring people together. The concept of a unified world is more acceptable nowadays in people's minds and, therefore, easier to achieve. Yes, the tensions in the world may appear to be more obvious now, but that reflects the healthy process of the world's past karma unravelling, in order to pave the way for a positive, enlightened future. The World Peace Report is designed to help you discover the ways in which you can participate and contribute to world peace in this century where there is so much potential for all of us to assist in this very important endeavor.
