Overall Outlook

How you behave, here we see how the attributes you possess influence your professional aspirations, working life and potential success; your general attitude towards your career.

Above Hemisphere

Professionally you fall easily into the stereo-typical type of 'Business Person', as you approach life in a purposeful manner, you are out there! Uma you are sophisticated professional who is comfortable doing business; in public and political world. You want to be important and influential. The public does acknowledge you, and always notices you especially for your business acumen. Professedly transparent, what people see is what they get, though you are politically canny and shrewd. Wanting to be at the top of the ladder, you respond well to praise and recognition.

A prominent business person you're preparing yourself for leadership and public roles; since you have the confidence and aggressiveness to succeed. You are an intellectual; it would be beneficial professionally to contact your feelings and emotions, so that you don't rub the more sensitive type up the wrong way.

Mutable Disposition

We now take the above and look at how you relate and interact with the business world; in a few words you are a "Humanist" a "Social Worker". You are caught up in career conflicts that deal with relationships and utilizing past experiences. Your work skill is to use your wisdom with others and for people. Having a meaningful professional position amongst people and communicating with them, drives your ambition. You try to make your profession and business a totally personal experience; exerting great effort to join in with others and be a part of some political-social movement. Generally, you are professionally predisposed to be concerned with people, their welfare as well as personal and business interests.

At your professional best you are able to delegate responsibility and bring people together for a common cause while at your worst you are likely to exploit relationships and people; taking advantage of their good nature.

Profession, Business & Ambition

Your ambitions and aspirations that will determine whether you wish to be a professional and the type of profession or business that is suitable for you is outlined as well as what will help you accomplish your ambitions and career aspirations, and your chances of being successful.

Profession & Business

The circumstances that determine your choice of profession and shape your desire to make something of yourself and have a prominent career - your ambition; or the conditions that force a career upon you and the subsequent public recognition; are described here. This is refined further by the sections that follow.

More than one planet in 10th House

Identifying the correct profession and career is complex as there are several indicators of what type of career you would be suited to. The answer is simple it's a combination of what is presented here even though there may be conflicting statements; normally an astrologer would do that for you. Therefore, you will need to pay particular attention to this section. You will especially look to your father for direction and guidance or rebel against him initially. It is as though you're driving a chariot with many horses and they may want to go in different directions you need to keep them focused, the next section "Professional Ambitions" will show you where to seek your career as it is the driver of the chariot, then everything will follow happily.

You're eager to achieve professionally, politically and publicly and are someone who needs to be groomed for success. As you move into your late teens and early twenties, these professional concerns will begin to dominate your life.

Mercury in 10th House or Conjoint Midheaven

Uma you will deliberately plan your career and profession. Your mind is always thinking about getting to the top in your career, whether that is in government communications, service or health. Early in life you may have found that you were good with the media and public speaking; and that you were suited to helping those at the top with their attention to detail. Now you may choose a role as a journalist, TV presenter, personal assistant or health worker. If you chose a PA you're absolved of the worry that comes with making major decisions, and are the power behind the throne. It may also lead you into the health professions.

Professionally you're a skilled civil servant; communicator and are suited to a career in the media, advertising or sales. You're good at public speaking, this skill needs developing and promoting. Being ambitious for mental and academic success can take you into teaching. You could be a good lawyer. Also your methodical approach to work and eye for detail suits you to research work in academia or health; or accountancy.

Challenges to Mercury in 10th House or Conjunct Midheaven

You find helping others and communicating rather hard, you encounter some problems harnessing your skills and may find it difficult to be successful. You need to learn to communicate much better, develop methodical work procedures and a good routine. Otherwise you may become unreliable and that will not look good on your CV.

Venus in 10th House or Conjunct Midheaven

To put it simply you're a professional artist or financier, your eye for beauty; desire to bring harmony into people's lives; good taste and style; are professional skills to be promoted. The public seek you out because of your good taste and style and you may promote yourself as an arbiter of what is fashionable. Being actively social, your connections help you achieve prominence. Uma you love the idea of being a public figure and knowing all the right people, social status is highly prized; or being seen as very wealthy, you love to display all the trimmings of success. You're very pleasing on the eye and would make a good model.

Therefore, your career aspirations lead you to three possible professions, art, finance or consultancy. If your love is for money then of course you will follow banking, finance or maybe speculation; if it is for people you become a consultant, using your skill of helping people get what they need; if you love people then a career as a consultant, public relations, in beauty or art and design is definitely for you. People seek you out for your social connections, opinions about what looks good and social etiquette.

Challenges to Venus in 10th House or Conjunct Midheaven

You struggle in your profession because you don't fully understand or appreciate your own talents. You either over or undervalue them and promote yourself at the wrong time or to the wrong people. Get your priorities right, greed gets in the way of choosing a successful career and you may sell yourself to the highest bidder, unhappiness will only follow. Learn to be generous.

Mars in 10th House or Conjunct Midheaven

Professionally you're motivated by your desire to be a leader especially a military one. In your career you're calculatingly competitive. Uma you're aggressive in pursuing your ambition to be first. But exercise discipline and self-control at the same time, the qualities that a politician or general requires, don't risk your ambition by being overly rash. You want to be appreciated and may enter the military, police and government to do this.

From an early age you have had leadership thrust upon you, because people appreciate your initiative and leadership skills. The down side of this is that you're also picked on or singled out for bullying. You can also fight with your superiors. Therefore, you do well in any martial occupation, or one that involves adventure and initiative, or in banking and insurances, etc. You're either appreciated for your good deeds or your notoriety. Because you take the initiative you're best in a profession where you're an entrepreneur or trouble shooter, competitive sportsman (if other factors support that).

Challenges to Mars in 10th House or Conjunct Midheaven

Poor timing when making professional decisions cause confusion in your career and damage to your reputation. You may try to achieve success with a no-nonsense attitude and display intimidating qualities that are not well received; bullying does not work in your career. Because you present yourself so aggressively in public, you're picked on or singled out and get into disagreements with your superiors. You need to learn patience and the benefits of strategic planning. You may find that studying some form of martial arts may be of help.

Professional Ambition

Everybody is born with a core ambition, whether that is for greatness and fame, or as a leader, or someone who wishes to serve society – forgoing recognition. Ambition connects you with society as other people share similar ambitions.

Saturn in Taurus

Integrating the ambition for wealth, material security into your personal goals, a life of luxury then governs your choice of profession. Therefore, you gravitate towards well-paying careers; which can finance your expensive tastes and life style. As money is valued more than professional skills, you may simply concentrate on your wealth and remain unskilled. Since you move in a fairly hedonistic social set you would be wise to develop your personal style, this will makes you an authority in art, food and wine, and beauty fields. Occupations that involve finance, the handling and investing of money are ideal careers too pursue. There is a possibility that you become a leader in the money field or in developing properties. Working with the land, agriculture, food and art is also attractive options to you as you enjoy managing in those fields. Professionally you may undervalue your abilities and have a poverty mentality.

Saturn in 9th House

Your duty is to teach and explore. The quest for truth, knowledge, academic recognition, adventure and the desire to explore the world controls your career path. Professional success depends on how well educated and travelled you become. Are you cultured? This ambition may lead you to be continually upgrading your academic portfolio. Therefore, your profession must give you the opportunity to learn, teach, travel and explore. You need to exercise your authority, you're approach is rather causal; the journey being more important to you than the goal. You're more of a philosopher than business person, being an academic is a particularly suitable career.

Your interest in other cultures and religions needs to be taken into consideration when planning your profession, you may choose religion as your life's vocation. The diplomatic service, publishing or educational institutions may provide you with a career path. Professions that appeal are the ones that engage you in philosophy, higher education, the foreign office, publishing, tourism and in occupations that deal with foreigners. A natural judge and elder you may find yourself drafting contracts and involved with the legal system, politics and academia are career possibilities. On another tack, if you're keen on sport and not interested in a secure position at a university you can be an outstandingly good sports person, a possible sports professional.

Comfortably placed Saturn in 9th House

A casual and relaxed professional attitude makes the dynamic here well balanced, it is not all fortunate or problematic and you achieve a happy medium in your business life. There is always help when you need it or challenges when you become too arrogant and over confident.

Professional Opportunities & Challenges

The qualities that help or hinder your business success are listed here. Previously your ambition was defined, now we look at the influences that alter and shape your ambition further, what knowledge you've accumulated that assists you Uma in achieving professionally and socially as well as any obstacles that may prevent this success. There will be contradictions showing how complex you are in professional and business matters. How the statements support or contradict each other indicate the type of experience you will have in your attempts to be successful.

Stimulating circumstances with Sun Conjunct Saturn

Your job is to have fun in life and create – you should develop this. You need to be positive and build your confidence. Professional opportunities improve after you turn thirty. You need to overcome your low opinion of yourself and lack of self-confidence which can interfere with your choice of career and success in life.

If you aspire to be important and acknowledged you need to embrace your creativity and be much more spontaneous in your approach to your work, otherwise you will be frustrated in achieving your ambition. Be more positive otherwise you will feel gloomy and become a rather frustrated leader. You may have trouble with parents and authority figures; this further restricts your chances of being a success.

Professional Evaluation

The list above may have left you confused because of the contradictions they pose, here we will explain that. What sort of professional are you? The circumstances that shape your professional attitudes and business prospects have been described. Now, we see how fortunate this is for you; what aids and assists you with your career, indicating how you can make the most of your chances of being successful in business or a profession. This gives an evaluation of your core business skills and any problems you may encounter. Are you focused or distracted?

One aspect to Saturn

Having a career and being important socially is a singular and uncomplicated aspect of your life. You're focused on your ambition, there are no distractions when you set your mind to achieving success. The only disadvantage is you're not resourceful when presented with different challenges in your career. You need to increase your skills and experience to be truly successful.

If it was shown earlier that you do seek prominence this may be a problem not being able to integrate other areas in your life with your ambition; you might not quite know how to achieve them; you may lack the necessary career experience and skills or drive. You need to develop that 'Curriculum Vitae'.

Therefore, you need some form of vocational guidance to define what extra skills you need to achieve your ambition. Alternatively, you may be happy to just have an ordinary job and not be driven by ambition. You have a specialist ability in the matters mentioned earlier.

Aspects to Saturn both helpful and challenging

The skills that help you achieve success and any obstacles to that success contradict each other. Sufficient help and performing well helps you achieve your ambitions in certain areas but you can be stressed and frustrated in others.

You're never complacent or overwhelmed by your goals, instead it gives you a dynamic edge to get on track and provides opportunities for success. Your ambitions are continually being refined; you avoid the trap of being lazy, and your timing is good. You're able to recover quickly when problems arise in your career and you're realistic about your expectations.

Employment & Work Skills

How you naturally spend your time and the hobbies that could lead to employment. Your job prospects and attitude to employment; how you spend your time while building a career is explored here.

Employment & Work

Work is defined as how you spend your time. This can be the different tasks you are responsible for in your professional capacity, or a job that you do that serves or supports other professionals; in a hobby; or your daily routines and rituals; interestingly it could simply be focusing on your health (satisfactory employment and good routine creates good health). Some of us start their working life with an apprenticeship, before working their way up to being a master. We've just explored what it is like for you to be master (your profession). Now we look at the menial tasks you are destined to perform that support your professional calling and provide you with employment. What type of employee are you?

Singular focus in 6th house

As you can see there is only one indicator for your work, this is what you will do for a job and be satisfied as long as all else goes well and you don't succumb to any problems. Pursue this with single minded intent.

Moon in 6th House

You're very comfortable working and need the regular routine that work brings you. Uma without work you feel pretty uncertain, employment is a real need for you, you derive a great deal of security and comfort from a regular routine and a job.

Naturally you seek a job where you care for people and nurture them, this indicates a health worker, social welfare and early childhood development. An extension of this would be fostering children, as you'll always work caring for people as though they were your children. A cleanliness fanatic you're very particular about how you do things and fuss a lot. In finding the right sort of employment you have taken your lead from your mother.

Other fields that provide suitable employment are in a service industry with food, hotels, property maintenance, gardening and kitchen design. Your natural empathy and desire to help makes you a good therapist of some kind. You especially work well with women and the public.

Challenges to Moon in 6th House

You encounter difficulties with employment due to your habitual lack of attention to detail and the problems you have with routine or time schedules. You have difficulty in accepting this and should pay attention to the advice you receive and develop routine, patience and a positive attitude. You may lack consistency always changing your mind or direction, this causes complications with work, it's important that you concentrate on the task at hand.

Work Skills

Your aptitude for following a methodical approach to a task and your ability to maintain a routine is outlined here. The employment you are best suited to and the details of further skill sets. Everybody spends their time somehow; some people idle it away; professionals spend it on tasks that meet their responsibilities; others spend their time going to work; others on a hobby that leads to employment; while others spend it serving others. Here we look at the specific way you spend your time and the work skill that you are born with.

Mercury in Taurus

The agricultural, financial and artistic work skills that you have enable you to apply yourself routinely to being an agricultural worker; working as a clerk or trader in banking or finance; artistically as a musician, poet or song writer and potter etc. Your discerning palate leads to an appreciation of fine wine and food.

Thinking a lot about money and get rich quick schemes, Uma you're a capable sales person especially with property, agricultural produce and wine. Money stimulates your curiosity and you are interested in learning how the financial world works, this can lead to work as an accountant, in finance, as an economics teacher or mortgage broker. On the other hand your media skills and love of the good things of life can lead you to employment as a commentator on finance, health, food and wine or fashion.

Mercury in 9th House

Since your thinking and routines focus upon travel, exploring the world and learning as much as you can, your choice of work is also affected by this. Uma you look for a job that takes you into the world of tertiary education; teaching; travel industry; law; other cultures and the great outdoors. You will be absolutely enthusiastic about work or alternatively rather blasé - love learning and abhor boring routine. You would rather be out having a good time than stuck at a stuffy job.

Therefore, work must give you the opportunity to wander far and wide, exploring the world, plus the chance to keep on learning. If it does then you're keen, although the truth is you're probably lazy when it comes to working, you're an inspired teacher. There's an old saying those who can do, and those who can't teach. In your case you're a good teacher because you get 'the idea' but your practical application is not great.

Job possibilities are teaching in universities and local technical colleges, publishing articles on religion, philosophy, law and justice, foreign cultures, social issues in the work place and health. Tourism or a tour guide is suitable, as you value travel, freedom and education more than a job.

Challenges to Mercury in 9th House

Encountering problems here, you may find it difficult to be successful in this area. You encounter difficulties with employment due to your lack of attention to detail and the problems you have with routine or time schedules. You have difficulty in accepting this and should pay attention to the advice you receive and develop routine, patience and a positive attitude. You may lack consistency always changing your mind or direction, this causes complications with work, it's important that you concentrate on the task at hand.

Work Opportunities & Challenges

What work skills do you possess that will help or hinder your employment prospects? These are listed here. We have defined your skills and now Uma we look how you use them in achieving employment and any obstacles that may prevent this. There are contradictions here, this is the complexity that is your everyday working life; it demonstrates how complex work is for you. How these statements support or contradict each other will show the type of worker you are.

Obstacles with Moon Square Mercury

Reliability issues arise because of difficulties coordinating your daily routine with other people, making getting and keeping a job problematic. Because your habits and way of working is different from others, you are difficult to work with. You may have difficulty being on time or relating to your colleagues, etc. As a result you may be in and out of jobs. You need learn to work with others and be on time etc. if you are to have job security. You may become a shift worker or are best working on your own.

Obstacles with Mercury Opposition Neptune

Work difficulties arise because you are vague and muddled when it comes to routine. You have no routine or discipline which is what you desperately need. Therefore you may be a sloppy or a lazy worker - always slipping away from what needs to be done. People may find it confusing and frustrating to work with you. What is your house like? How easy is to keep it tidy? You need to learn how to fit in with people and not be away in a day dream. You are suited to working with healing, your imagination, art and music.

Promising circumstances with Mercury Trine Pluto

Your business acumen and ability to accomplish difficult tasks efficiently makes you appreciated by employers and work colleagues. A solid and reliable worker, you have a particular talent for finding work when there seems to be none. You'll probably always have suitable employment, if not you create a job for yourself. When it comes to employment you are suited to renovating or restoring; working in a bank or high finance; maybe in the area of psychology.

Stimulating circumstances with Mercury Conjunct Midheaven

You don't really know if you want to have an all-consuming career or just an ordinary job. You think a great deal about work possibilities and your career and this makes you ultimately undecided about what you want to commit to. Often, therefore torn between your options you can remain indecisive until such time as you finally make a decision about your career ambitions once and for all.

Work Evaluation

The list above may have left you confused because of the contradictions they pose, here we will explain that. What sort of worker are you? The circumstances that shape your work attitudes and employment prospects have been described. Now, we see how fortunate this is for you; what aids and assists you with employment, indicating how you can make the most of your chances of successful employment and wealth. This gives an evaluation of your core work skills and any problems you may encounter. Are you focused or distracted?

Four or more aspects to Mercury

Your work experience is very impressive. Work is a very complex area of your life and is powerfully influenced by your interest in time management, excellent procedures and attention to detail. Your choice of employment is shaped by almost every area of your life. Your job impacts on all your activities.

Everything you do is motivated by the desire to work, and be helpful. It is important then that you pay particular attention to this whole section on work; if you get this right all your other interests will benefit, get it wrong and you're in danger of being unemployed because you're too distracted. You like routine and to know where you stand, regular meals and sleep benefit you; you probably enjoy helping others.

Aspects to Mercury predominantly challenging

Uma you may have difficulty in finding satisfactory work because of any obstacles that you meet along the way. You will have noticed that there are more obstacles for you to overcome than the talents to deal with problems; this in itself may be an incentive to improving your work methods and skills.

Generally it may mean that you develop a rather despondent approach about finding satisfying employment, just do boring work with attitude and end up becoming unreliable. Then you become your own worst enemy at work, unwilling to work with other people or apply yourself consistently to a task. Something that is necessary to keep a job.

To help retain a job and work you need to learn to fit in with other peoples' routines. Uma you need a regular sleep, mealtime, etc. It's necessary that you learn how to be on time, methodical and follow a routine consistently, to counter any inconsistency at work. Concentrate and sharpen the skills you have. You need to be positive to avoid any negative attitude towards work.

Earning Money & Financial Skill

Everyone likes to be well paid for their work and career efforts. Your ability to earn and accumulate personal wealth is discussed; how you can increase this wealth is indicated and any extravagances are pointed out.

Earning Money

We all need money to live and we all earn money and spend it. This section looks at how you earn your living, what talents you have for handling wealth and what services you offer. What exactly people will pay you for. It also touches on what your values are and your priorities; someone with a clearly defined value system, that drives their priorities, will always have money and avoid wasteful spending. They will be happy. Failure to define your values and set your priorities leads to financial mismanagement, waste and unhappiness.

More than one planet in 2nd house

Identifying exactly how you will earn your money is complex as there are several indicators of what your talents are for earning and creating wealth. Generally it's a combination of what is presented here, even though there may conflicting statements. Therefore, you will need to pay particular attention to this section. It is as though you're driving a chariot with many horses and they may want to go in different directions; you need to keep them focused.

You're eager for wealth and have several talents to assist you achieving your desires. You're someone who needs to learn about money. The next section "Earning Skills" will show you where to make your money

Pluto in 2nd House

Secretive about money and how you come by it, you see money as power and will be obsessive about obtaining wealth, take care, as obsession can corrupt you, leading you to seek illegal ways to make money. There are no half measures with earning a living for you Uma. This is where you experience the power struggles in your life. At your best you can move mountains to earn a good living while at your worst you resort to stealing or underhand means to get it. You need to learn the correct attitude towards wealth.

You can earn a living through big business, taxation, banking, high finance, nuclear medicine, surgery, consultancy and the sex industry are also suitable sources of income or political lobbying and industrial relations. Even recycling - you know that there's money in waste/rubbish. Your love of secrets equips you for earning an income through scientific or criminal investigation, pathologist or a coroner, and with an interest in death, to undertaking. You could be a real scrooge or a potential millionaire.

Promising placement for Pluto in 2nd House

Powerful and intense about your ability to make money, you're confident in your earning capacity. People value your talents and pay you well. You should achieve your financial goals and any financial problems should be easily resolved.

Uranus in 2nd House

A steady income is a misnomer to you, there is nothing steady about earning a living for you Uma. Your finances fluctuate unpredictably and can be chaotic, and inevitably go through rapid changes. The financial uncertainty can be quite exciting for you but difficult for others. This is an indication of someone who receives alternative sources of income, is on a contract or survives on royalties for example. Money comes to you through your inventions, scientific investigation and technology skills or through friends and social networks, as well as pursuing your occult interests.

You have some original and inventive ways of making a living this can be through introducing new technology into farming and land management, food and wine production and the banking industry. You may rebel against money all together and try to invent a new form of trading or seek income in alternative fields psycho-therapies, humanitarian sciences or with social issues, mathematics, architecture. Even antiques.

Promising placement for Uranus in 2nd House

Eccentric and individualistic appreciating yourself and confident in your financial ability people value your talents and pay you well you should achieve your financial goals and any financial problems should be easily resolved.

Financial Skills

The values that dictate your earning and spending are detailed here. The development of these values is the secret to personal wealth. Your particular taste and style is defined; taste in art, music, food, clothing and personal adornment, it is by nurturing these tastes you display a talent, a quality or service that people are attracted to and willing to pay for. These attributes signal the way you earn money.

Venus in Gemini

With plenty of ideas of how to make money you will be very resourceful in earning your living. Uma you will probably have two sources of income as you are quite versatile when it comes to making a living. Though you may be rather erratic with money, easily spending what you have. The ability to change tack rapidly and present new ideas convincingly, shapes your earning potential, this skill especially points to sales. Uma you are a real sales person you can sell or promote anything you love, especially with art and property. Having verbal skills fills your bank account.

Being curious about money and how the financial world works suggests you could be financial journalist. If you are not so lively it means you could get paid as an accounts clerk or accountant, or mortgage broker. Loving to teach you can be paid to teach finance, an economics teacher. If you are the lively type earn a living through your love of computers, the media, gossip, and ability to write about what you hear. Your communication skills can lead you to earning a living in broadcasting or journalism, or in print as a finance writer, health, food or wine writer and fashion commentator. Pharmaceutical sales and health products industry may be lucrative as well.

Venus in 10th House or Conjunction Midheaven

You're an authority on money, how to earn and spend it wisely. A well-paid profession is what you need, if the pay is not right then it's not the career for you. You're paid for your management skills, people's skills or your artistic talent. In spending you're rather circumspect and like to buy things that are quality but not over stated. Your taste and style are obvious to the world. To put it simply you're a professional artist or financier, your eye for beauty; desire to bring harmony into people's lives; good taste and style; are professional skills to be promoted.

The public seek you out because of your good taste and style and you may promote yourself as an arbiter of what is fashionable. Being actively social, your connections help you achieve prominence. Uma you love the idea of being a public figure and knowing all the right people, social status is highly prized; or being seen as very wealthy, you love to display all the trimmings of success. You're very pleasing on the eye and would make a good model.

Therefore, your career aspirations lead you to three possible professions, art, finance or consultancy. If your love is for money then of course you will follow banking, finance or maybe speculation; if it is for people you become a consultant, using your skill of helping people get what they need; if you love people then a career as a consultant, public relations, in beauty or art and design is definitely for you. People seek you out for your social connections, opinions about what looks good and social etiquette.

Challenges to Venus in 10th House or Conjunction Midheaven

You struggle in your profession because you don't fully understand or appreciate your talents, you either over or undervalue them and promote yourself at the wrong time or to the wrong people. Get your priorities right, greed gets in the way of choosing a successful career and you may sell yourself to the highest bidder that ultimately can lead to unhappiness. Learn to be generous.

Income Opportunities & Challenges

Income Evaluation

The list above may have left you confused because of the contradictions they pose, here we will explain that. Will you be rich or will you be a spend thrift? Your ability to earn money has been described, now we see how fortunate this will be for you; what aids and assists you with your earning money and increasing your wealth, indicating how you can make the most of your chances of being financially secure. An evaluation of your core financial priorities and any problems you may encounter. Do you have the ability to put your priorities into practice or do you compromise them?

Heavily aspected Venus

Your talent for earning a living and increasing your wealth is very impressive. Earning a living and accumulating money is a very complex area of your life and is powerfully influenced by your taste and style and love of beautiful things, highly developed aesthetic taste.

Your desire to earn and be rich is driven by almost every interest you have; your financial situation impacts all your activities. Be aware that money could be a dominant driving force and you do everything you can just to be rich, then be seen as excessively greedy, missing out on the enjoyment of people. Everything you do is motivated by the desire for wealth and to live in a beautiful world.

It is important that you pay particular attention to this whole section on wealth and acquiring money; if you get this right all your other interests will benefit, get it wrong and you're in danger of being poor because you're too greedy have and confused priorities. You like people and the good things of life, you're expensive. Refining your taste improves your financial situation.

Venus predominantly challenging aspects

Uma you have had difficulty with money from an early age. These difficulties arise because you want wealth and the good things, but have no idea of the value of money and how to use it wisely. Feeling there's never enough for you or you're far too impatient to save for something you want. This frustrates you and you waste what you have saved. This keeps you from acquiring money. All you want is to have enough money to satisfy your expensive tastes.

You may do whatever you can to get that money, as a result you compromise or put at risk other interests. You need to learn to save money and to work for it, and to value what you have. Otherwise you could become a greedy, jealous and possessive individual. To increase your wealth, define what you value in life and find worthwhile then make these activities a priority, wealth is bound to follow.
